The Council Meeting. The monthly meeting of the City Council was devoted mostly to routine business Tuesday.

An ordinance was passed regulating the conduct of those who congregate in the postoffice lobby. Postmaster Wilgus appeared in person and asked its passage.

Mr. T. L. Metcalfe appeared by attorney and asked that the same protection be accorded the fruit dealer by the passage of the recent license ordinance be given to his steam laundry.

Mr. O. F. Stenham an agent of a Nashville laundry resisted the passage of such an ordinance, by attorney, and the matter was tabled after some discussion.

George Wendling's lecture, "Is Death the End," is replete with eloquence, his manner pleasing and his enthusiasm inspiring; you will hear this lecture with delight and surprise at the tabernacle to-night.

A Feminine Financier.

The director of a Chicago bank tells how his wife overruled her account at the bank last month. "I spoke to her about it one evening," said he, "and told her she ought to adjust it at once. A day or two afterward I asked her if she had come what I suggested. 'Oh, yes,' she answered. 'I attended to that matter the very next morning after you spoke to me first of it. I sent the bank my check for the amount I had overdrew.'"

A Narrow Escape.

Prof. W. A. Garnett of Pembroke narrowly escaped being run over by a train Tuesday. He crossed the track and stepped upon the platform just as the train pulled in. He failed to balance himself on the slick platform and was about to fall back under the train when a friend on the platform caught him. As it was, he was struck by the bumper as it passed, and showed some distance, but was not seriously hurt.

CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

White-Capper Caught—Seeking More Litigation—Oates Boys Sent Up—Hog Shortage Discovered—Numerous Nuggets of News.

A SLY YOUNG FOX.

He Seals a Pretty Girl in South Christian. Mr. Wm. G. Fox and Miss Minnie Coleman eloped to Clarksville Tuesday and returned as man and wife. The particulars are given in this extract from the Leaf Chronicle:

"To day at high noon Mr. Wm. G. Fox, a well-to-do young merchant of Howell, Ky., and Miss Minnie Coleman, a beautiful young lady of Herndon, Ky., were made one in the happy consummation of their marriage vows, in the presence of a number of friends, at the residence of Mr. Wm. G. Fox on College street, Rev. A. M. Gorden officiating. To night supper will be tendered the wedding party at the residence of Mr. S. Coleman, at Herndon. After the reception attending the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Fox will be at home to their friends at Howell, Ky. Both young people are popularly known in Clarksville. Mr. Fox has been in considerable of his time in this city, and his young bride was a pupil of the Clarksville Female Academy. She has a widowed mother who opposed the match, but love followed love's behest, and the marriage to-day was the blissful denouement to a happy romance."

This love affair has been on Mr. Fox's mind for some time and his friends will rejoice with him that he has at last secured the fair object of his adoration. The Kentuckian wishes him the happiness he deserves.

White-capper Caught. Bud Welsh, col., who was indicted at the last term of court on a charge of white capping, was captured by Mr. L. B. Burris, Marshal of Pembroke, Tuesday, near that place, and was brought to this city and handed over to the authorities Wednesday. Five others, charged with a similar offense were tried last fall and fined, but Welsh succeeded in keeping out of the way of officers until Tuesday, when Mr. Burris came upon him and took him in.

Stolen From the State. A few nights ago a bold thief stole a 250 pound hog from the asylum. The porker was butchered on the grounds and carried off. A search was made for the missing hog and the thief was tracked by the blood of the animal to a point in the Greenville road, just outside the city limits where all trace of both was lost.

Fancy price Realized. Wilton, 219 1-4, the famous trotting stallion, was sold Monday at Woodard & Shanklin's sale at Lexington, for $12,600 to Lewis & Albright, of Circleville, Ga. Wilton has forty six 2:50 performers, and is fourteen years old and a fine specimen of horse flesh.

The Oates Boys Go Up. Wm. T. Oates and John Oates, brothers, charged with rifling a mail sack, were given one year in the Federal court at Owensboro, and have been taken to the Jeffersonville prison.

They entered a plea of guilty. W. T. Oates was the mail carrier on the Kirksville route when the robbery occurred.

He Likes Litigation. Anderson, the negro preacher who brought suit to the constitutionality of the separate coach law, tried to ride in the white coach again, at Henderson Tuesday, and the white passengers abandoned the coach to him. The constitutionality of the interstate feature of the law was not settled by Judge Barr's decision applying to the negro's interstate rights.

A Narrow Escape. Prof. W. A. Garnett of Pembroke narrowly escaped being run over by a train Tuesday. He crossed the track and stepped upon the platform just as the train pulled in. He failed to balance himself on the slick platform and was about to fall back under the train when a friend on the platform caught him. As it was, he was struck by the bumper as it passed, and showed some distance, but was not seriously hurt.

ATLANTA.

A Brief Description of the Metropolis of the South.

EDITOR KENTUCKIAN:

Atlanta, the capital of Georgia, the "Empire State of the South," is situated nearly centrally in the great agricultural and mineral quadrilateral forming the southeastern section of the Union.

The elevation of Atlanta at the railway track, Union passenger depot, is 1,050 feet above the ocean level, a higher elevation, with one exception (Denver, Col.) than that of any other city of equal population in the United States.

Considering the many superior advantages possessed by Atlanta, (natural and artificial), her geographical position, natural drainage, supplemented by skillful sanitary engineering, her fine climate, her general business facilities, her many churches and excellent schools, it is not at all surprising that Atlanta can justly be called "the Metropolis of the South."

She is far ahead of her sister cities in rapid increase of population and wealth, at this time her population exceeds 110,000.

New residences ranging from the cosy cottage of the thrifty wage earner to the spacious and elegant mansion of the rich, are being built all over the city.

The suburbs are being rapidly improved; beautiful suburban towns connected by electric car lines, are springing into existence and activity.

This year, more than any other will cause Georgia to be doubly proud of her capital, as the great international exposition will be held in her arms this fall.

Piedmont park, located two miles from the center of the city, has been selected as the site for the exposition.

More than a million and a half dollars will be expended by the management of the exposition.

Great inland lakes, thirty acres in area, have been constructed and with few exceptions, all the buildings will have water frontage.

On these lakes electric launches and gondolas will play, affording an agreeable mode of transit from one part of the grounds to another.

In addition to the government buildings, plans have been accepted and work commenced on the following:

Manufacturers and liberal arts, machinery, mineral and forestry, Agricultural, electricity and transportation, woman's and administration buildings; besides these, provision is being made for suitable music and lecture halls.

The fact that the South was not adequately represented at the World's Fair, led to the inception of this enterprise, which has the object of encouraging the trade relations already existing between the southern States and the Republics of Mexico and Central and South America.

Every state in the South should be proud to have exhibits at this great exposition. So let the Bluegrass state be represented in her best colors.

LILLIAN B. PRICE, Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 3, 1895.

Tuna and Ohio are nearly the same size.

Barbecue of Mackerel. Scale and wash a fresh mackerel of medium size. Split it down the back, take out the L. bone, lay the fish skin down in a pan just large enough to hold it, sprinkle it with two salt-spoonsful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper, lay on it two tablespoonfuls of butter and set it in front of a clear fire where no ashes can fall upon it. Let it broil, basting it every two minutes with the butter, which will melt and run into the pan. As soon as it is brown, set the pan over the fire for five minutes, then put the fish in a large deep platter and keep it hot. Stir into the pan in which it was broiled a tablespoonful of flour and set it over the fire to brown. As soon as it is brown, stir with it a plait of boiling water, a salt-spoonful of salt and a little pepper; let it boil two minutes, stirring it constantly. Then pour this sauce over the fish and serve hot.

Fried Apples. Wash and wipe dry six large, juicy apples that are not too tart; remove the cores with a sharp knife or apple corer. Cut the apples around in slices half an inch thick, fry in hot butter until the slices are nicely browned on both sides, sprinkle with powdered sugar after removing to the dish in which they are to be served. A nice accompaniment for roast pork.

THE FAIR MILLIONAIRE.

SOURCE OF WEALTH NOW BEING CONTESTED FOR.

The Late Millionaire's Career as a United States Senator Was Glad When His Term of Office Was Up—The Fair Divorce Case.

JAMES G. FAIR, whose great fortune promises to be vigorously contested for, left wealth estimated at from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000. He was a remarkable illustration of the opportunities afforded by this country for the development of native energy and thrift. Born in Clogher, County Tyrone, Ireland, on Dec. 3, 1831, he came at 12 years of age to the United States. A little instruction at the public school and some training in poorly paid employment until he was 19 were all the preparation he had received for his future, when the California gold fever broke out. Fair went to strong boy, quiet, steady, industrious and determined to succeed. In the spring of 1849 he joined a caravan about crossing the continent. The overland pilgrimage completed in August, he worked with pick and pan as a miner for some time, but without success. Turning his attention to the coal fields, he found better luck, soon demonstrated his superior ability as a mining engineer, and not long after he had attained his majority he was in charge of important mining operations as the general manager of the famous Ophir mine in Nevada. In 1857 he was superintendent of the rich Hale and Norcross mine in the Comstock lode, and his wealth was accumulating rapidly. Mr. Flood became his partner, and later the firm was increased by the association with it of Mackay and O'Brien. The "Bonanza" firm obtained control of mines which soon became known as the "Consolidated California and Virginia," and which paid more than $100,000,000 in dividends in three years. Mr. Fair did not continue to devote himself to mining. He invested freely and variously in California, principally in agricultural and stock raising, and also in railroads, ranches, and mills, conducting his ventures with so much business sense that his enormous fortune continued to steadily increase. Hard work and business anxiety had told upon him in 1880, when, by the advice of his physician, he made a tour of the world. Upon his return he was elected a senator to the United States from the state of Nevada. The successful mining operator was not an impressive senator. During his six years of service he made but two speeches—one a testimonial of respect to the memory of Senator Miller of California and the other advocating the passage of a bill to settle the claim of A. H. Emory for a testing machine, the value of which Mr. Fair had learned by experience. The "Bonanza" senator made no display of his great wealth while in Washington. Personally he was just a plain retiring man, sensitive to opinion, conscious of his inability to adapt himself to the "whirl" of which he had become a small part, very indifferent to political ambition, and sincerely glad when his senatorial career ended. His wife, Mrs. Theresa Fair, sought a quiet life from him in 1883, after he had been married twenty-one years. Mr. Fair did not oppose the divorce and having agreed to a settlement which gave to Mrs. Fair a large share of his estate, Mrs. Fair died in 1891. The children are Mrs. Herman Oelrichs of New York, Miss Virginia Fair and Charlie Fair. Mr. Fair's will, filed to probate the day of his death, left the bulk of his property to be divided among his children, and gave liberal legacies to his immediate relatives, and to many of the charitable institutions of San Francisco, with the discrimination of denominations.—Harper's Weekly.

An Inexpensive Fire Alarm.
The illustration represents a fire alarm whose operation is not dependent upon electrical circuits, but which operates positively in case of fire to sound the alarm in all parts of the building with which the apparatus is connected. A combustible cord, preferably of silk, is run around the ceiling, from a peg, passing over guide pulleys, a weight at the end of the cord holding it taut. To the weight is also attached a noncombustible cord, whose other end is secured to a tripping lever, a pull upon which disconnects two sections of a taut wire, one section of which is connected to extend through openings into all the adjacent rooms and to all parts of the building, having connection with an alarm at all desired points. If the silk combustible cord is burned, the weight is dropped and the tripping lever operated to cause the separation of the taut wire sections, thus sounding the several alarms. The other section of the taut wire is connected at its other end to a swinging weight fulcrumed on the wall of the room. Any suitable spring alarm may be used with this improvement.

THE FIRE ALARM.

The Improving Crane.
Among the improvements lately introduced into great iron works are electric cranes. These structures are made with heavy iron poles in trestle work fashion and support runways, upon which these immense cranes travel. For carrying the heavy products of the mills this form of transportation has points of advantage over all others. The lines from the various mills lead to a general storage point, and make shipping much more convenient and expeditious.

The Farmers Alliance is holding its national convention at Raleigh, N. C.

The Nicholasville Scooper is the latest newspaper venture in Kentucky.

Hawaii is about to get even with us for refusing to annex, by sending us her second hand queen.

It was not Capt. A. H. Bogardus, the famous crack shot, but another Bogardus who died in Atlanta, Monday.

The ladies have not so far accepted the invitation of the Kentuckian to edit one issue of the paper. The proposition is still open.

Judge Geiger, a Kan-as judge, was called upon last week to sentence his son-in-law to the penitentiary for burglary.

Judge E. Rockwood Hoar, of Concord, Mass., ex-attorney general and ex-congressman and a brother of Senator Hoar, died last week aged 79 years.

The Japanese captured a portion of the defenses of Wei Hai Wei January 30, although the Chinese put up a better fight than usual. The Japanese fleet sustained some heavy losses and one gunboat was sunk.

"Marce Henry" knows when he has grabbed the ho end of a poker. He is going to drop that goldbug nonsense and go to Europe before the state convention assembles.

Senators Harris and Mitchell, of Oregon, lived up to things in the senate by having a personal quarrel on the floor Tuesday, after the style that has obtained in the House of late.

The editor of the Owensboro Messenger in replying to the Courier-Journal's editorial calling him a "Kinkergarten in Finance," again demonstrated his ability to hold up his end of the silver ques in even a controversy with Mr. Waterson.

Ex-Queen Lil has abdicated the Hawaiian throne and declared her allegiance to the present government. This will of course put an end to the royalist pretensions.

A bear invaded Madison, Knott county, this week, and the judge who was holding court thought it more to be a bear than a judge. He adjourned court and all hands had a bully time in killing the bear.

Miss Elvira Lyndon Miller, of the Louisville Times, in enumerating the short list of really good after-dinner speakers in Louisville, modestly fails to include herself.

The Louisville Critic is authority for the statement that Editor Henry Waterson will leave for Europe the first of May to be gone ten years. During his absence Mr. Harrison Robertson will be the chief editorial writer of the Courier-Journal.

H. Clay Evans took the oath of office as governor of Tennessee, before a magistrate, Wednesday. The Democratic secretary of State refused to file his oath or otherwise recognize his claim. The legislature is counting the vote.

A dispatch says the Peruvian rebels have cut off the food supply from Lima and the people are suffering. It is ten to one that Minister Jim McKenzie is still able to indulge in his favorite Kentucky breakfast—Louisville Times.

On preceptory instructions from Judge Burr to find for the plaintiff, the jury in the separate coach case of W. H. Anderson vs. the L. & N. railroad, at Owensboro, gave a verdict of one cent damages against the railroad. This is of course an editorial triumph for the opponents of the separate coach law. The L. & N. people will take the case to the supreme court of the United States, where the constitutionality of similar laws has been frequently passed upon in cases appealed from other states. They are confident of securing a reversal.

Mr. James R. Murra, one of the veterans of the press, has been forced by ill health to retire temporarily from active work on his paper, the Central Record. The Kentuckian joins with his many friends in wishing him a speedy restoration to health and strength.

Few better country papers than the Madisonville Hustler come to this office. The Madisonville people have never before had such a paper published in their town and they will be standing in their own light if they do not give it the support it deserves. Glenn, Givens and Compton make a team hard to beat.

The Democratic goldbugs conferred with Reed and other Republicans Wednesday in an effort to get a bond bill that would pass. They agreed to let Reed prepare it, but refused to accept his bill because it made the bonds payable in "coin" instead of "gold." Even a Republican bill was not radical enough for the party wreckers who have repudiated the Chicago platform.

Congressmen Breckinridge, of Kentucky, and Heard, of Missouri, had a difficult quarrel on the floor of the House Friday, and Breckinridge made an unsuccessful attempt to strike Heard. The row arose over a discussion of the Hawaiian resolution and the direct was passed and other insulting language indulged in. After they had cooled off they made mutual apologies and shook hands. On the following day Maguire and Reilly made a similar display of themselves over some trivial matter and had to be held apart by Col. Breckinridge, who acted this time as peacemaker.

TOBACCO NEWS.

HOPKINSVILLE MARKET.

Our sales this week amounted to about one hundred hogheads, with receipts of 110 hds. Tobacco in good order was in demand at fair prices, but wet tobacco was dull, there being no demand for this class. Leaf and lugs were also a little off. Tobacco not properly ordered is from one to two cents lower than the same grade in first class condition. It would be well for the farmers to bear this in mind in preparing their weed for shipment, as the difference is too great to lose sight of. The loose market is inactive and will remain in this condition until the weather moderates.

Ragsdale, Cooper & Co. sold 34 hds. Wednesday, as follows:
 6 hds. med. leaf, $8.00, 7 25, 7 20, 7 00, 7 00, 6 30
 15 hds. com. leaf, $5.50, 5 40, 5 40, 5 40, 4 75, 4 75, 4 25, 4 30, 4 60, 4 90, 4 40, 4 25, 4 25, 4 25, 4 00.
 8 hds. lugs, $3.95, 3 90, 3 50, 4 10, 3 25, 3 00, 2 95, 2 95.
 5 hds. trash, $2.25, 2 20, 1 75, 1 75, 1 25.

Tobacco in good condition, good market at fair prices. We advise our friends to be particular about order, for tobacco too soft in condition will not bring within one to two cents of their value if properly ordered.

R. C. & Co.

Henshaw & Shryver sold 12 hds. as follows:
 5 hds. good old leaf, $8.75, 7 90, 7 60, 7 10, 7 00, 6 30
 2 hds. med. Robertson county lugs, $3.95, 3 20.
 4 hds. trashy old lugs at $2 each.
 Market good on orders to tobacco. H. & S.

Sales of 15 hds. tobacco by Wheeler, Mills & Co. Feb. 6, 1895 as follows:
 2 hds. lugs, $1.70, 1 70.
 Market active and unchanged.

W. M. & Co.

Sales by Abernathy & Co. Feb. 6, 1895 as follows:
 3 hds. med. leaf, $8.30, 8 00, 7 60
 5 hds. com. leaf, $5.50, 4 40, 6 00 each.
 5 hds. low leaf, $5.75, 5 30, 4 10, 3 25, 3 00.

 Market firm and active on long to heavy, but dull on low leaf and lugs. A & Co.

Hood's Pills cure Constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hood's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional treatment. Hood's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing the work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. A Prosperous School.

KENNEDY, KY., Jan. 24, '95.—Gordon Field Academy has just closed one of the most interesting and prosperous terms of school taught in our midst for years, there being forty-one pupils enrolled, while the average attendance was greater than it has ever been. It has been a school in which drones could not live, and in every department a marked and rapid improvement was noticeable.

One of the principal features of the school was the Debating Society, composed of the larger and most advanced pupils, and on Fridays afternoon, the school room was the scene of many heated and exciting, as well as edifying discussions, which together with music, recitations, and other interesting exercises, attracted not only the patrons but strangers as well, and he said to the honor of "Gordon Field" boys and girls that in no school have we ever met with brighter faces or readier wit. While all have done well, those whose names appear on the honor roll deserve special attention.

Mattie Barker, Sam Boon, Myrtle Moody, Florence Gray, Lizzie Boon, Jas. Foster, Annie Allen, Mable Moody, Massie Boon, Richard Barker, Willie Stevens, Leslie Butler and Lizzie Gray.

Our teacher, Mrs. S. D. Allen, of Pembroke, Ky., is not unknown to the profession. She has at all times been at the head of the list of teachers in her own neighborhood for eight or more years, and though this is her first term among us, the thorough and efficient work done here, has only increased her popularity. All around us school have fallen, teachers have been exchanged, or schools given up; while we for the first time in years are to have a spring term of school, which opens with 21 pupils and more to follow.

The question of higher education has been agitated, more interest is shown. New desks have taken the place of the old ones. Charts, maps and mathematical blocks relieve the vacant nothingsness. While bright motives, that cheer, encourage and inspire to noble efforts, grace the once bare walls. This is what has been seen by an OBSERVER.

Frozen Tea and Coffee. Frozen tea, as well as ice frappe, will be found on the table at many afternoon teas. The latter is particularly delicious if made with gelatin, to form a coffee jelly, then mixed with whipped cream and frozen. It will be found to be very smooth and light. Of course, it should be well sweetened.

Now is the Time.

The benefit to be derived from a good medicine in early spring is undoubted, but many people neglect taking any until the approach of warmer weather, when they will like a tender liver in the hot sun. Some thing must be done to purify the blood, overcome that tired feeling and give necessary strength. Vacation is especially longed for, but many weeks, perhaps months, must elapse before rest can be indulged in. To impart strength and to give a feeling of health and vigor throughout the system, there is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, eliminate old life, and while it tones and sustains the system it purifies and renews the blood.

A Change of Theory. A quarter of a century ago fever patients were treated in a way that at present seems little less than barbarous. They could get no water either by entreaty or strategy, and were frequently almost starved, on the theory that a fever must never be fed. Now, days eminent medical men give fever patients eggs, chops, beef and other articles. In short, they feed them on the dishes most liked when in health. Enormous quantities of water are given and baths as well, with a much larger per cent of recoveries.

The leading feature of "The Century" continues to be "The Life of Napoleon," by Prof. William M. Sloane, which, in the February number, reaches the topic of Bonaparte's first military success. After describing the rather shifty policy of Napoleon in relation to the Revolution Prof. Sloane recounts the circumstances surrounding the famous pamphlet, "The Supper of Beaucaire," and then takes up Napoleon's decisive success at Toulon, and his appointment as a Jacobin General, thus covering in all, the largest part of the period from the time of the expulsion of the Bonapartes from Corsica to the marriage with Josephine, which will be reached in the March installment. The illustrations of the present number are from originals by David, Flomeng, Lejeune, Jimenez, and other painters, together with drawings made especially by Castaigne, Pope, and others, after careful studies of the period. The narrative now rapidly approaches the first great campaign in Italy, which was regarded in later life by Napoleon as the greatest achievement of his career.

From Florida.

Tampa, Feb. 1, 1895.—As several of my former friends asked me to write about what I saw, I have gathered a few facts about this strange place. It is situated on Tampa Bay and Hillsborough river between 25 and 26 degrees latitude. The climate is warm, delightfully cooled by salt sea breeze and is said to be very healthy. Has a population of 8,000 whites, 6,000 Cubans and 4,000 negroes. The business interest centers in the cigar factories, which have moved here from Key West and Cuba, drawn by the shipping facilities which consists of two railroad and a line of steam ships. The tobacco is shipped from Cuba and comes in canvassed bales of about 100 lbs and after paying duty is worth from $1.00 to $3.50 a lb. There are 120 factories employing 5,500 hands who last year drew $2,500,000 wages, which they spend as fast as they earn it. Cottages costing $150 rent for $4.00 per week and there were 800 built last year, and there are hundreds being built now, which are usually rented before completion and there are new houses being built in every direction. There are hotels everywhere in the state a great many hotels. The Tampa Bay is certainly the finest harbor and perhaps as fine as any in the State. There are two National banks, two good newspapers and a good system of electrical railways.

There is only one paved street. All the others are in the sand and nearly all the sidewalks are made of plans. They have a good court house, one fine marble front business house with a few good brick houses. The others are mostly one story frame houses. They have good churches of several denominations; we heard Dr. Pickett of Louisville, preach two very fine sermons which pleased us very much as almost the only other reminder we have had of the state is a large ad on a shop of "Old Ky. Whisky." We have all kinds of vegetables with corn and tomatoes fresh from the vine. We were disappointed that the oranges were all frozen, but the trouble the trees are putting on the green again and there will be a crop next year. Strawberries will be ripe in a few days. We sit without fire and find winter clothing oppressive and sleep with our windows open at night. We find the people very kind and social and are having a delightful time. Yours respectfully,

C. B. Wans.

FUN FOR ANGLERS

SPORT AT FISHING THROUGH THE ICE.

Since Where It Can Be Enjoyed—The Equipment Needed—The Fish Are Hungry in Cold Weather—The Bait Used.

GWADAYS WHEN snow and cold have chilled the enthusiasm of most anglers, and they have packed away their tackle, some cunning old fishermen are really enjoying the cream of the year's fishing. When the first skimming of ice fringes the shore of the lakes they begin their preparations, and every sign of a long, severe winter fills them with delight, for the man who knows how, when and where, to go fishing through the ice can land more fish of some species in the winter than at any other season. Pickering, pike, muskellunge and some of the salmon tribe are the favorite game. On lakes and ponds where in summer many may skitter and troll all day with only the most meagre returns for one's labor, the cold days bring fare, good sport. The fish seem to be half famished much of the time. So eagerly do they bite, and so great is the slaughter in winter, that in many states fishing through the ice and spearing have been restricted or forbidden entirely.

The best way to enjoy a day or two of sport is to arrange by letter with a local guide or resident to receive notice when there is a good, firm clearing of ice on the lake. Otherwise the angler will run the risk of arriving on the scene just as a snow storm has covered the lake or a thaw has set in. The snow, if too deep, is not an insuperable obstacle, for it can be swept away, but a rain or a thaw is fatal. It's of no use to try to plan an expedition before you know that none

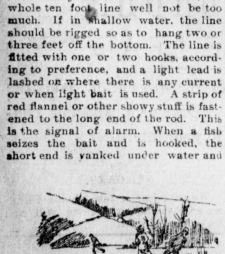

AN ICE FISHING RIG.

Is needed save a warm suit of clothes, a fur or a knit cap to draw down over the ears, and a pair of real Scotch woolen gaiters, homely as can be, but the only truly warm hand covering made that is not too clumsy.

For tackle you will find that residents of the locality can fit you out far better than any city shop, even if the outfit needed is not too clumsy to be portable. None of the ordinary summer season tackle is of service, unless, perhaps, hooks, and even the hooks used in winter fishing are heavier than those employed in summer for the same fish. A very heavy line is used, one heavier, as a rule, than is necessary. The equipment almost universally used is braided linen, size "C," cut in ten-foot lengths, and big sprat or Limerick hooks on wire gimp snells. Various devices are employed to take the place of rods.

The old Morris county rig is so called from its universal use there rather than because it originated in that locality. It consists of a solid square stick of heavy wood, which is laid across a hole chopped in the ice. The hole should be about 18 inches in diameter. A screw eye is fixed in the center on one end, and into it is twisted a piece of brass wire about 2 feet long. A hickory branch will do in place of the brass, though it is not so good. The rod is fastened to the screw eye 6 inches from one end, the longer end is intended to lie flat on the ice, while the short bit sticks up above the water. To this short uplified end the line is made fast, the length of line being regulated by the depth of water. If in twenty feet or more of water, the whole ten foot line well not be too much. If in shallow water, the line should be rigged so as to hang two or three feet off the bottom. The line is fitted with one or two hooks, according to preference, and a light lead is tacked on where there is any current, or when light bait is used. A strip of red flannel or other showy stuff is fastened to the long end of the rod. This is the signal of alarm. When a fish seizes the bait and is hooked, the short end is yanked under water and the whole ten foot line well not be too much.

THE YORK STATE RIG.

The little red flag is thrown up in the air. One can not be too quick in answering this summons. There being no yielding rod to break the force of the pull, there is a gr-at strain on the line and on the fish's jaw as well. If either is tender the fish will get away. With a score of lines, two men are kept on the jump to tend the fishes on a good day.

Chopping the holes is no easy trick, when there are three or four, some times six inches of hard black ice to be cut. A sharp trapping ax—which is best because of its deep blade—is skillful hands will open up a double row of twenty holes across a lake in an hour or so. If the cold is severe, one of the fishermen must go the rounds with a stick every now and then to keep the water from freezing again.

There is another device known sometimes as the York State rig. This is rather more clumsy, but it brings in more fish. For if you must cut sapling ironwood or alder if you have not rod or bamboo, and it is hard to get enough of the latter. These cut poles are stuck in the ice, small holes being cut for this purpose at proper distances from the fishing holes. Generally the cold air freezes the water around the butt of the rod and fastens it firmly. When a fish is hooked the bending pole gives warning, and the game is landed with a hand and foot fashion without lifting or disturbing the pole. The spring of the cut pole is the great virtue of this rig and saved many a light hooker fish.

Balls are of several sorts. Some people prefer live bait, and without doubt it is better than most other lures, but minnows are scarce and high priced in winter. At many places the guides keep them for sale, but at most places they are not to be had. Strips of salt pork are excellent things when trimmed long and thin. Slices of the fish already caught make good bait, particularly if a tin or bit of tail be left dangling like the real live thing. Some city anglers have taken of late to using silvery artificial minnows, but the slim strings which these individuals bring home is a good enough argument against these in us.

THE TRIGGER.

Frederick Healy and George Work, the crack wing shots of the Larchmont club, New York, sailed Jan. 2 for Monte Carlo, where they will enter the big pigeon shooting tournament, which is to be held there next month. Capt. A. C. Bogardus, the veteran sportsman, thinks that he has a right to the title "world's champion" as Dr. Carver. In the current issue of the American Field Bogardus issues a challenge directed at both Carver and Healy. As the question as to the world wing shot championship is in doubt Bogardus suggests that the dispute be settled by another free-for-all match similar to that decided Nov. 15 for the American live-bird championship.

A. C. Krueger, the crack shot of Wrightville, Pa., has accepted a challenge from C. Roosevelt, Esq. of Gettysburg, for a series of five matches. Forfeits have been posted and the details of the match arranged. The Herron Hill and North Side Gun clubs of Pittsburgh have decided against the prevalent practice among wing shots of "dropping" birds. Both clubs will add a rule to their by-laws forbidding and penalizing the practice. Any visiting marksman found guilty of dropping birds will be ruled out of all future contests held by these two clubs. Any bird has been "dropped" in recent matches in Pittsburgh in order that the shooter might secure second money instead of only half of first money.

Feather Suppression. We have long been acquainted with the peacock feather suppression, but were not aware until a few days ago that it extended to all feathered creatures. A young girl admired the beautiful pigeons strutting, cooing and sunning themselves in the covert of the house where she was boarding and asked the landlady to sell her a pair to take home with her. No, indeed, "child," was the immediate response. "Not for any money would I sell you those birds. When one person gives for sells an acquaintance, it is feared that there is a sure to be trouble between them and I do not want to fall out with you."

Several Chicago men who at Toronto refused to admit into the dominion the posters of some living pictures which had been exhibited without hindrance in cities on the side of the frontier, and the lithographs were accordingly returned to the United States.

The enlargement began to diminish soon after treatment of the Electropoise was applied; at this time it does not show at all. Large quantities of mucus was thrown off and sometimes corruption an inch long and as large as my little finger. Others of my friends have the Electropoise and the one in my family has proved its curative powers on more than one occasion.

W. H. RECTON,
Cadiz, Ky., Nov. 1, 1894.

Dear Sir:—I write to inform you that I am more than satisfied with the investment I made with the Electropoise. I am now a well woman where I was a perfect wreck from the effects of asthma. I commenced treatment last July.

Mrs. W. H. RECTON,
Cadiz, Ky., May 14, 1894.

Mr. Recton, under date of August 3d, says: "My health continues good; I have no return of asthma and am in better health than I have ever been in my life; have gained in weight over 15 pounds. A neighbor of mine is using it for goitre, and it has very much reduced the largeness of her neck; think she will be entirely cured." Electropoise put out on trial for four months for $10. Send for valuable book free.

GOITRE IN THE NECK

The Electropoise has cured what was supposed to be goitre on the neck of Mrs. Low Thompson of Montgomery, Ky. Large quantities of mucus was thrown off and sometimes corruption an inch long and as large as my little finger.
